

As he approaches his tree back in the woods, he could hear his family's chirping.

When Colin reached his nest he was given a big telling off. But after explaining about his adventure and all of the fellow birds he met, his mother stopped to think.

She began to explain an important life lesson

NEXT